

Exchange advisory / caution - Fraudulent entities luring investors on pretext of providing investment tips

This is to notify and alert our clients and other stakeholders about the communication from Securities and Exchange Board of India that some fraudster entities operating throughout India have been sending bulk messages to clients trading on recognized stock exchanges on the pretext of providing investment tips and luring them with a promise of hefty profits.

Their modus operandi is that they offer clients incredible investment opportunities and once a client invests the amount, huge profits are shown in his/her online account. However, they stop responding when clients demand they return the invested amount and profit earned.

In view of this, we advise you to exercise due caution and verify the authenticity of any investment tips offering incredible potential for making profit. Wealth creation is a long-term process that needs time and patience, and requires the investor to be vigilant all the time.
